The "Otto Kuhler" Business (or Private) Car was built by Pullman Car Works in 1927. The car was primarily used as a business car for the Denver & Rio Grande Western railroad executives. In 1952, it was used by Harry Truman for the Stevenson Presidential Campaign.

The car has also been used in such films as "Cat Ballou", "Centennial", "The Missouri Breaks" and the "Cheyenne Social Club".

The Delaware Otsego Corp. purchased the car in August 1987. The car has 2 high speed Timken trucks, tight lock couplers, 2 independent electrical systems and 2 brake systems. The interior contains beautiful mahogany wood, an elegant dining room with leaded glass, a luxurious mahogany encased living room, modernized kitchens, 3 bedrooms and 4 baths. This car comfortably accommodates 8 people.
